Shiloh Coleman spent several years as a police officer in Southern California before graduating from UCLA Law School and becoming an attorney. Shiloh practiced law with the international law firm of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, working in areas ranging from audit litigation to white collar crime. In 2004, Shiloh left the firm to join his life-long friend Richard Kirkup to help build Sector Supply, now a worldwide supplier of central office switching and data transmission gear, providing asset recovery and procurement services. Sector adopted the TL 9000 standard as the backbone of operations from day one, and has been certified since June of 2005. Richard Kirkup's father, Granville Kirkup, founder and former CEO of Telmar, recently joined Sector as Director of Process Technology. Shiloh is an Executive Contributor to the QuEST Forum's Executive Board, serving pro bono as the Forum's General Counsel.
